T-shirts, refreshments, workshop materials and DOOR PRIZES will be provided!

ISU’s College of Technology hosts the 8th annual FIT for the Future conference in collaboration with student organizations from ISU. This fun-filled afternoon of career exploration will offer hands-on workshops for high school and college students. Professional women in technology fields will share how they chose the paths they have followed in building their careers and how students can take advantage of opportunities in the world of technology and engineering.

Register online starting February 1, 2015:

ABOUT US

ISU’s Females in Technology (FiT) student organization provides opportunities for students in traditionally male career fields to network, participate in professional development activities, and organize outreach and community service projects designed to attract more females to technology and engineering careers. FiT is dedicated to supporting the enhancement of women in technology and engineering.
